Description :

PDF-7a425 | After World War II, the United States and Canada, two countries that were very similar in many ways, struck out on radically divergent paths to public health insurance. Canada developed a universal single-payer system of national health care, while the United States opted for a dual system that combines public health insurance for low-income and senior residents with private, primarily employer-pr... National Health Insurance in the United States and Canada: Race, Territory, and the Roots of Difference (American Government and Public Policy)
